To potential clients of NexGen Consultants:

We highly recommend NexGen Consultants for Salesforce.com development projects. Recently, Sur-Seal engaged NexGen for development of a data synchronization add-in to enable our Salesforce system to communicate with an internal database.

As a custom manufacturer, launching new projects for our customers is often time sensitive and involves a lot of two-way communication between our representatives out in the field and their main customer contacts. The development of this instance enables our Salesforce users to keep tabs on the live status of new project launches and communicate accurate information.

Our project manager was Justin Davis. He was knowledgeable, professional and was able to develop a solution which would meet the specific needs of our business. Our project was completed on-time, and the implementation was flawless.

Changes to internal business processes are often cumbersome. However, having NexGen as a partner made the experience positive and productive. Please consider this letter an endorsement from a satisfied client.

Sincerely,

Dave Clettenberg
Marketing Manager, Sur-Seal Corporation
